GERMANS ARE PRESSING FRENCH AND BRITISH OFFENSIVE LINES

Drive Back Allied Left Wing at Noyon Only in Turn to be Forced Into Original Position.

FIGHTING IS HAND-TO-HAND

Battle on Scale Never Before Witnessed and Losses Are Characterized as Enormous.

RIVERS RUN RED WITH BLOOD

What Loss of Aisne-Oise Battle Would Mean to Either Side—Enters its Twelfth Day.

(By United Press.)

Paris, Sept. 26.—The Germans are increasing their efforts to break down the French offense. This was officially admitted today. The fighting there is on a scale never before seen and the losses already are enormous, but the official declarations insist that at no point have the Germans scored a victory.

They drove back the allied left at Noyon only in turn to be pressed back toward their original position. They crossed the Meuse but could not hold their own and were driven back across the river with great loss, their pontoons shattered by the accurate fire of the French three-inch guns.

The fighting on the left and right is hand-to-hand. General Joffre is hurrying every available man from the rear to reinforce the line at every point.

It is realized that this struggle will have a most important effect on the final outcome of the war.

Germany has her first and second lines, her reserves and part of the volunteers engaged. A defeat would mean that they must retire well into Germany to the shelter of the Rhine forts and into Belgium to the new lines already prepared.

A victory for the Germans would imperil the entire allied structure everywhere. Fully realizing the great hazard, both the French and British commander-in-chief are using every available man to bring victory.

There is absolutely no news obtainable on the losses. But the rivers are said to be running red with blood and thousands of dead have been thrown into them, thus bringing the danger of disease from infected water.

The wounded brought from the battlefield are covered with mud. Many of the soldiers are literally barefooted, their shoes having been worn out in the marching. All are fighting in wet clothing. Rains have begun again.

The battle of the Aisne-Oise entered its twelfth day today, with a fury unsurpassed in the history of the world.

DUELS IN AIR ARE COMMON

Two in Last Two Days Result in Destruction of German Airships

(By United Press.)

Antwerp, Sept. 26.—Duels in the air in Belgium are now of almost daily occurrence. Yesterday a Belgian aviator attacked a German who was flying south from Brussels and killed him. Today an English observer in a biplane chased a German in an airship for several miles from this city, finally managing to down him, wrecking the machine and killing the officer and the pilot.

LONDON WAR OFFICE STATEMENT VAGUE

Is Admitted Fighting Goes on Unchecked With Definite Result Not Yet in Sight.

GERMANS ARE VERY ACTIVE

(By United Press.)

London, Sept. 26.—In a vague statement issued by the official bureau for the war office at 5:15 this afternoon, it is admitted the fighting goes on unchecked and without final definite result in sight. The statement says:

"There has been much activity on the part of enemy all along the battle line today. Some heavy counter attacks have been repulsed. Considerable loss has been inflicted on the enemy."

The statement did not indicate the extent of the loss but earlier statements said it had been heavy.

DRIVE ALLIES BACK 10 MILES ALONG OISE

German Right Wing Takes Offensive. War Office Says, and Holds on to Captured Territory.

SITUATION IN EAST SAME

(By United Press.)

Berlin, (Via The Hague,) Sept. 26.—In its official review of the war situation issued today the war office declares the German right has taken the offensive and has driven the allies back for distance of ten miles along the Oise river. The statement says that while the allies have been reinforced they have been unable to regain any of the captured territory.

A series of violent assaults are declared to be in progress, with the advantage remaining on the side of the Germans who have inflicted heavy losses on the allies.

The movement of the German forces along the Meuse river continues it is stated with the Germans slowly driving the French back on their main columns. The main column of the French fortified position of Verdun and the chain of the so-called Meuse forts, seven in number extending toward Toul is in progress without interruption.

The situation in the eastern battlefield is said to show little change from the earlier reports. The Russians have been completely driven from east Prussia, with heavy losses and numerous Russian guns and two battle flags have been captured.

Col. E. H. Wolfe celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary today. Col. Wolfe is probably the most active man in the city for his age and was out today greeting all his friends.

The Rushville National Bank has filed suit on a note against Warren P. Robbins, Henry M. Robbins and Harvey W. Robbins, demanding $1,700.

WASHINGTON TO STAY NEUTRAL

Administration Will Follow Its Old Policy of Watchful Waiting in Mexican Troubles.

CARRANZA—VILLA BREACH

Correspondence Said to Show Constitutional Leader Tried to Placate Revolutionist.

(By United Press.)

Washington, September 26.—Strict neutrality between Villa and Carranza, silence and continued watchful waiting, were the administrative watchwords in the Mexican situation today.

No hint was given regarding decision upon a date for departure of American troops from Vera Cruz except that evacuation before October 5 is impossible.

Meagre official advices today included word that Consul Carothers had finally left El Paso for Chihuahua to interview Villa. Wire communication with Mexico is interrupted and few consular reports on the situation are being received.

Publication was promised today by Carranza's representatives here of correspondence between Carranza and Villa which preceded the breach. This, it was said, would show that Carranza made every effort to placate Villa without success.

Expected objections from Villa against surrender of Vera Cruz and transfer of over a million dollars in customs collections to a Carranza agent was one of the knotty problems troubling the administration.

NO MEDIATION FOR MEXICAN TROUBLE

Fight Between Carranza and Villa Must Go on End, Latter Replies to Peace Offer.

VILLA WINS FIRST FIGHT

(By United Press.)

Juarez, Sept. 26.—The fight between Villa and Carranza must go on to the end; there can be no mediation of their differences. This was the reply Villa sent from Chihuahua today to Carranza's military chiefs who had urged him to accept a peaceful settlement. Villa charged that Carranza had violated the "treaty of Torreon" framed several months ago when a similar break between the two leaders was mended.

Backing up his declaration of hostilities, Villa continues to mobilize his forces and fighting below Torreon is expected to begin soon.

Villa has released General Alvaro Obregon, Carranza's chief military leader. In bidding him farewell, Villa told Obregon they would meet again soon on the battlefield.

General Benjamin Hill, Carranza's leader in Sonora, was defeated yesterday in a skirmish with Governor Maytorena's forces at Santa Barbara.

Nellie Patton Asks For Divorce From Lon Patton.

Mrs. Nellie Patton, of Anderson township has filed suit divorce from Lon Patton. Mrs. Patton alleges cruel and inhuman treatment and asserts in the complaint that he called her vile and opprobrious names. Mrs. Patton states that he was always complaining and told her he did not love or care for her and stated that he would see her in hell before he would do anything for her. According to the complaint, they were married August 3, 1903 and separated in March, 1914. Mrs. Patton asks the custody of their two children and also support money.

CORNERSTONE TO BE LAID OCTOBER 6

Ceremonies at New School Building Will be in Charge of the Masonic Lodge

GRAND MASTER IS INVITED

The cornerstone of the new school building, now under course of construction on the east half of the Graham school lot, will be laid Tuesday, October 6, according to plans announced today by the school board. The Masonic lodge will have charge of the ceremonies and Martin A. Morrison, of Indianapolis, Grand Master of the Indiana lodge, has been asked to deliver the principal address for the Masons.

The details of the cornerstone laying have not been fully completed but will be in a few days. It is also planned to have Charles A. Greathouse, state superintendent of public instruction, give an address, but this part of the program will be separate from the Masonic ceremonies.

Work on the new building is progressing rapidly now and it is hoped to have the building completed by the first of the year.

WILLIAM CARR IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Eight-Year-Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen L. Carr. Has Concussion of Brain, it Just Develops.

FALLS FROM HIS BICYCLE

William Carr, eight years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen L. Carr, is in a serious condition, suffering from a concussion of the brain, sustained Thursday afternoon in a fall from a bicycle while he was on his way home from school. With some other boys he was playing on the brick pavement and fell in front of the home of A. L. Riggs, in North Perkins street. He was picked up unconscious but soon revived and was not thought to be badly hurt.

He suddenly grew worse last night and an examination revealed a fracture of the skull. He has suffered great pain and is conscious only at times. The sudden change in his condition came as a surprise as it was first thought that the injuries were slight.

A marriage license was issued this morning to John T. Smith, a blacksmith of Manilla, and Ella Marie Strode.

2 LOCAL BANKS CONGRATULATED

Peoples National and Mays National Receive Complimentary Messages from Other Bankers

RESULT OF "ACCUSATION"

Secretary McAdoo Charges Them With Hoarding Reserve—Instead it's Healthy Condition

Of the three Indiana banks singled out by Secretary of the United States Treasury McAdoo for a "bawling out" as he sees fit to term it, for having on hands excessive reserve funds, two of them are located in Rush county. One is the Peoples National bank of this city and the other is the First National bank of Mays. The third bank mentioned is the Second National of Richmond.

The secretary of the treasury gave out a list of banks all over the country which he charged with hoarding excessive reserve funds. It happened that there were only three Indiana banks mentioned in the list and two of them were in Rush county. Secretary McAdoo has the names of other Indiana banks which are exceeding the limit, in his estimation, in accumulating reserves, but he is of the opinion that the publication of these names will change conditions.

The minimum reserve required by law is fifteen per cent, which is the lowest reserve that any national bank is allowed to carry. Most of them however, hold in reserve a larger per cent, than the minimum requirement, not only to meet the ordinary business needs but also to meet any unusual conditions that may arise, it is explained.

Bankers from many parts of Indiana have been sending their congratulations to the Peoples National bank, because their report shows such a healthy condition. Telephone messages and telegrams began pouring in this morning before nine o'clock. The same report comes

BANKERS PROTEST AGAINST CHARGE

Resent Being Held up Before Country as "Usurers" Wilfully Creating Financial Panic.

THEIR SIDE OF THE ARGUMENT

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 26.—Protests from bankers against being held up before the country as "usurers" guilty of wilfully creating financial stringency by alleged hoard of currency reserves began to reach the treasury department today. Some of the letters used vigorous terms in criticizing Secretary McAdoo's campaign against hoarding and his publication of so-called "blacklists" enumerating banks having a surplus of legal reserves.

That they would be subject to severe criticism had they failed to maintain ample reserves under present conditions was the tenor of the bankers' protests. For protection of themselves and their depositors, they contended, it is only prudent to maintain more than the minimum legal reserved during the war situation.

SPECIAL BALLOT TO BE PROVIDED

At Next Election Voters Can Give Expression on Constitutional Convention Plan.

AMENDMENTS OVERLOOKED

Experiences of Past Show Little Attention is Paid to Proposed Changes in Basic Law.

When the voters go to the polls in November they will be handed several ballots one of which will be entirely new and calls for an expression on the proposition to call a constitutional convention in Indiana.

During the last few years several attempts have been made to amend the Indiana constitution but the voters were not enough interested in the plan to vote one way or the other and sufficient votes could not be secured. It is believed that by having a separate ballot for the constitutional convention question the attention of all voters will be called to the question and a definite result can be reached.

In the 1913 acts there is a statute which provides that the county commissioners shall furnish to each inspector the same number of ballots to be used in determining whether such convention shall be called as is furnished of county ballots.

The special ballot will be of simple form the voter marking in a square before "yes" and "no" whether he is in favor of the plan.

"Such ballot shall be printed on plain white paper four inches square. The expense of printing said ballots and furnishing the ballots, boxes and supplies hereinafter mentioned, shall be paid by the respective boards of commissioners of the several counties of the state, as other expenses of the state, as of elections are paid. Each voter shall indicate his desire in the manner following, viz: If such voter is in favor of calling a constitutional convention he shall make a mark thus, "X" in the square in front of the word "Yes"; if he is opposed he shall make a mark thus "X" in the square in front of the word "No." Such ballots after being marked by the voter shall be deposited in a separate box to be provided for the purpose. Whenever an elector offers to vote at such election, one of said ballots shall be handed such voter by the judge of the election."

If a majority of the voters in Indiana vote in favor of the constitutional convention this fall the Governor

The Means to the End

"Advertising is nothing in itself. It is only a means to an end — IMPROVED BUSINESS."

"Business is nothing in itself, only a means to an end—improved LIVING."

These two sentences from a recent address of Joseph H. Appel tell the whole story.

Advertising is the great necessity of improved living—and newspaper advertising is the mightiest, most mobile battalion in the whole advertising army.

The man who intelligently utilizes newspaper advertising is on the road to improved business and improved living.

Wholesale Price of Sugar Drops 35

Cents on Hundred Pounds—
First Degree Since War.

BEAT SUGAR REACHES MARKET

Sugar prices fell off yesterday for the first time since the war in Europe started. When the war cloud first appeared the price of sugar went up by leaps and bounds and the drop in price will be welcomed by all housewives. While the drop yesterday was not very great, it is believed that the highest price has been reached and a greater decline can be expected.

The wholesale price of sugar dropped from $7.30 per hundred pounds to $6.95. This drop of 35 cents means that two more pounds of sugar can be bought for a dollar retail today than yesterday. Sugar in Rushville was retailing at fourteen pounds for one dollar today instead of twelve pounds. The reason assigned for the drop is that the American beat sugar is now reaching the market. Local grocers believe this to be the case. They saw no reason for the great increase in the first place.

HOURS FOR BURNING LEAVES RESTRICTED

Another City Ordinance Also Provides That Fire Shall Not be Built on the Paved Streets.

APPLICABLE AT THIS SEASON

At this season of the year, attention is called to the city ordinance against burning leaves on the paved streets. Shortly after the first street in Rushville was paved the city council passed an ordinance making it unlawful to burn leaves, trash, rubbish or any other material. The ordinance was passed November 7, 1911. It provides a fine not to exceed ten dollars for violation.

It is always at this time of the year that the city officials call attention to the ordinance regarding when and where to burn leaves. Under the law leaves shall be burned between the hours of six in the morning and two in the afternoon. The offense is punishable by a fine of not less than two dollars and not more than five dollars.

BOX OF FRUIT FOR SOLDIERS

The Woman's Relief Corps of Rushville are preparing to pack a box of fruit to be sent to the Soldiers' Home at Lafayette. The state provides the home with many necessities, but it remains for the helping hand and sympathetic heart of women to provide for the weak and feeble inmates some of the comforts for mind and body. To the sick and aged members of the Home, many of whom are in the hospital, a refreshing drink prepared from fruit juice is very welcome. Donations of fruit, jelly or fruit juice will be thankfully received, no matter if it is only one glass or can it will help. To those willing to donate, please send to the home of Mrs. William Bainbridge, corner Third and Julian, or call telephone No. 1595 and it will be called for, as it is desired the box be sent by October 6.

error of the state will issue a proclamation stating that the proposition has carried. Special elections will then be called for the first Tuesday after the first Monday in March, 1915, at which time delegates to the constitutional convention will be chosen. There will be as many delegates as there are state senators and representatives and the apportionment will be made in the same way as that for senators and representatives. All candidates must be non-partisan and no political party will be allowed to nominate any candidate. The candidates for delegates to the convention are to be nominated by petition and any voter may become a candidate for delegate by filing a petition signed by at least 100 voters.

If the proposition carries the constitutional convention will be held in Indianapolis on the first Monday in May, 1915, and will remain in session not longer than 180 days.

In case the constitution convention is called it will have the power to adopt a new constitution or to make any changes deemed advisable.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT TO START MONDAY

Case of Samuel Murphy Against T. H. I. & E. Traction Company Will be Heard Here

IT IS QUIET IN COURT TODAY

The damage suit of Samuel Murphy against the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company, in which $11,200 is demanded will start in the circuit court Monday before a jury. The case was sent here on change of venue from Henry county. Murphy was injured when the automobile in which he was riding was struck by a traction car. The accident occurred near Straughts.

There was nothing of great importance in court today and Judge Megee devoted the morning to the calling of the docket. The case of Frederick Hilligoss against Will L. Newbold and George Puntney, on a note demanding $75, was dismissed and the costs paid. Judge Megee has not yet given his decision on the Pettis divorce case heard yesterday.

Elonidas Master and August Gohger of Laurel were in this city today, on their way to Indianapolis, where they spent the day.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts before breakfast if your Back hurts or Bladder is troubling you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

Bankers here had that the policy of conservative banks is first to take care of their local customers, and then, if conditions warranted, to make additional investments that have been approved. This community has splendid banking facilities, all will agree. The banking institutions here are taking care of all they regard as their first obligation to their customers.

Officials of the Mays bank explain that their institution, too, has been handling its obligations to its clientele, which it considers its first duty. They point out further that they have not hoarded their reserve in a manner intimated by the secretary of the treasury and that they have not been refusing legitimate loans in order to store up an excessive reserve fund.

It is merely a condition of affairs locally that contributed to make the reserve of the Mays bank particularly large at the time the bank statements were made September 12. The Mays bank official explains that just at this season farmers, who form the largest body of their customers, are selling and are paying off their loans. In addition, many of them have deposits to make. This is responsible for the large reserve. But it will not be long until farmers begin to buy corn and have needs for money for other uses, and then they will borrow money and the reserve will be cut down near the minimum.

To prove that the condition of the affairs of the Mays bank where abnormal when the statement was made September 12 and when the reserve fund mounted up to fifty-eight per cent, Bert Benner, the cashier, cites the fact that the books of the bank yesterday revealed that the reserve was only thirty-six per cent. He points out that a week ago last Thursday, just five days after the statement was made, the reserve was only forty-six per cent, showing that it had been cut down twelve per cent in five days. He said it was as high as the statement indicated only about thirty days. In two or three weeks, Mr. Benner said, when the farmers will have had their needs supplied in the money market, the reserve will undoubtedly be below twenty-five per cent.

Addresses and Music at Gathering at Christian Church Honoring W. C. MacDougall.

WINIFRED MUIRE IS GUEST

A hundred and eighty plates were laid for the banquet given in the basement of the Main Street Christian church last evening by the Christian Womans' Missionary society of the church honoring W. C. MacDougall of Jubblepore, India, a missionary kept in India eight years by the local society. It was the largest crowd ever attending a banquet in the church. Counting the children, there were over two hundred present.

Short speeches were made by the Rev. C. M. Yocum and Miss Winnifred Muire of this city, a missionary to China sent by the St. Paul's M. E. church, but the chief address of the evening was made by Mr. MacDougall. Miss Frances Frazee gave two readings and Mrs. Carl F. Behr and B. F. Miller sang.

The members of the society presented Mr. and Mrs. MacDougall with a fireless cooker. They will not return for a year as they expect to take special work in Chicago university this winter. Mrs. Roy Waggener presided as president of the society.

The Monday Circle of this city will be entertained by the Research club of Milroy at Milroy next Monday evening. Elaborate plans are being made by the Milroy club.

The Tri Kappas will hold an important business meeting at the home of Mrs. R. E. Harrold at 718 North Perkins next Monday evening. The attendance of every member is requested.

The Monday Circle will entertain the Carey club of Connersville next Thursday at noon with a luncheon in the summer house on the Robert A. Innis farm a short distance northwest of the city.

Mrs. Willard H. Amos and daughter, Mrs. Mary Root, entertained a small company informally yesterday afternoon at the Amos home in North Perkins street, honoring their guests, Mrs. Frank Fridgon and daughter, Miss Ruth Fridgon, of Richmond. Mrs. and Miss Fridgon will leave soon to spend the winter in California.

Bliff Staples pleasantly entertained the Q. X. K. Club at his home east of Milroy last night. The members of the club were driven from Milroy on a hay wagon. Mrs. Margaret Morton and Miss Sybil Bogart, members of the faculty of Milroy High School, acting as chaperons. The evening was spent in playing games and a three-course luncheon was served. It was the first of a series of parties to be given by the Club during the winter.

The fashions of a century ago were the rule at the party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Maude Reed Wolcott of North Perkins street, honoring her mother, Mrs. L. H. Lally, of Michigan City, Ind. A conveyance of the sort our forefathers rode in, a rickety farm wagon drawn by two horses, was sent to the respective homes of the guests to take them to the Wolcott home. The wagon when it passed through the streets, attracted considerable attention. There was a step ladder on the back end of the wagon for the guests to ascend and descend and a "coachman" stood at attention. All of the guests wore clothes as much out of fashion as it was possible to get them. Old wedding gowns of a half century or a century ago were taken from the old clothes press and donned for the occasion. The decorations and the entertainment for the guests was in keeping with the spirit of the delightful occasion. Refreshments were served late in the afternoon.

Paul Wesling, living south of the city, is starting a green house in North Willow street in the Belmont addition to Rushville. Leo Schetgen is managing the business for Mr. Wesling.

Further Burdens

In a remarkable editorial, the Cincinnati Enquirer, a Democratic newspaper and conceded to be the leading business newspaper of the country, deals some hard blows to Democratic policies in respect to the internal revenue "war tax" bill which is about to be passed by congress. It says:

While people generally may not be paying the attention they should to the proceedings in the Congress, there is basis for the belief that some time in the near future the all important question will be: "Why was it necessary to levy war taxes in time of peace?"

The answer will have to be given by the Administration and by members of the Congress when they present themselves to the people for approval and re-election.

We are now neutral with all the nations of the world. Our situation should be one of satisfaction. Indeed, the selfish suggestion is current that we ought to be enjoying profit by the misfortunes of those at war.

The big guns that are booming in Europe have shattered pay rolls in distant America. Stress has entered the American home everywhere.

Taxation for the support of local government in many places has reached the point where it fails to provide for normal requirements. The burden upon the people is as great as they can stand. And further increase may make them stagger or fall.

Whatever "war taxes" may be levied will come out of the pockets of the people, no matter upon what commodity or article they may be placed. It will be just some more upon what they are already carrying, possibly the last straw.

The National Administration finds itself faced with a reduction in the normal amount of revenue, due to interruption of imports from Europe, and also, possibly, in some degree, to legislation that was forced through the Congress under Executive pro-

THE CAMPAIGN OF 1914 IS OPEN

There are thousands of Republicans in Indiana who have never taken an active part in their party's affairs.

This is true of all political parties, everywhere, and the elements of causation are numerous.

Many think their duty ends with voting. These men are "not interested in politics," and by their neglect permit evils to develop—evils which would vanish absolutely with the proper increased participation by citizens in the actual "politics" of their country.

Many have not taken part by reason of the belief that their help was either not needed or not desired. They believe they have not been asked.

The reasons of neither class are sufficient. If we want clean politics, strong tickets and consequent good government we can get them—but never if we are "not interested in politics." What we need in this country is not less "politics," but more attention to politics. The man who has no time for attention to politics has no just complaint, whatever he may receive. He is riding on another's ticket.

The campaign of 1914 is open. The issues are definitely drawn. The Republican State platform is an unequivocal declaration of the party's purposes. The State is alive with Republican enthusiasm. The absolute necessity of the practice of the great fundamental principles of the Republican party in the nation is again demonstrated. The State's need of the party in the management of its affairs is no less apparent. Our candidates are men of the very purest character, severest honesty and greatest ability. Success is merited—victory is ahead.

All Republicans in the State of Indiana, all those who ever voted the Republican ticket, all well-wishers of good government, regardless of past party affiliations, are urged to aid. To all the faithful workers who, since the earliest days of the party's history, have worked for its success, we appeal with a full appreciation of the great service rendered in the past and a thorough realization of the efficiency of their experience and quality of their loyalty; to those men who, two years ago, for any reason voted other tickets, we appeal with an equal appreciation of the quality of their citizenship, the integrity of their motives and their loyalty to the principles on which the party is founded; to those good men who have always in the past been the opposition, but who now, in the light of the additional evidence of the correctness of our position, are concluding that we must, indeed, be right; to the tax-payers of the State of Indiana, who in their own affairs strive for efficiency and practice economy, and expect like efforts by their public servants; to the young men, on whose shoulders the burdens will soon rest, and who will see the Republican party the party of the future, applying to new conditions the wisdom of experience and the efficacy of honest, zealous service; and, especially, do I appeal to those Republicans who in the years gone by have taken no active interest in politics, feeling, possibly, that they were not needed or desired as working members of the organization, and ask that they, and every one of them, become volunteers today in the cause of the Republican party, not voters merely, but workers; that they today offer their services to the precinct committeemen in their precinct, to the county chairman in their county, and to us here, and become one of those faithful men who, all over Indiana, are working day and night, and will work from now until election, for a purpose far greater than the success of the party—for the ultimate goal "that no harm shall come to the Republic."

It will not be said in the campaign of 1914 by any Republican in the State of Indiana that he was not given a chance to work. You are here and now most earnestly and most sincerely urged to join the fighting force and become a potent part of the party of protection and prosperity, with an equal voice in the management of the party's affairs with every other man in the party. To do this is your privilege and duty.

It has always been the volunteer soldier that has merited the praise of a grateful people. Be a volunteer in this fight for better government—a protective tariff and lower taxes. Come.

gram. Hence the taxgatherer must go out with the thumbcrews.

Whatever is done, the people who pay the bills, and gladly when national honor or safety is at stake, will at the proper time demand why the United States, at peace with the world, should have been put on a war footing in the matter of taxation.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

BEVERIDGE KNOWS IT.

(Vincennes Capital.)

The Progressive organization in order to prevent a great number of Progressives who were formerly good Republicans from coming back to the Republican party, are misrepresenting the facts about the present Republican state organization, and assert that it is still in the same old "hands." No one knows that this statement is absolutely false more than Albert Beveridge and if he was honest and fair he would say so.

In 1910, when absolute boss of the Republican party in Indiana (and no boss was ever more dictatorial than he) and Oscar E. Bland was to be the Republican candidate for congress, with his express approval, Mr. Beveridge called Mr. Bland into consultation as to who would be the best district chairman of the Second Indiana district, and they agreed that Will H. Hays, the present state chairman, was the man. Mr. Bland was commissioned by Mr. Beveridge to interview Mr. Hays, and after seeing how he stood with reference to Mr. Beveridge, to urge him to be the district chairman. Mr. Bland did so with the result that Mr. Hays accepted the task and the splendid organization effected by Mr. Hays in the interest of Mr. Bland and Mr. Beveridge and the whole Republican party then and he is now just as true to the same principles and the Republican party as then but Mr. Beveridge is not on the ticket now and just there comes in the Progressive kick.

TAGGART OUTFITS AIDING BEVERIDGE

Machine Leaders Now Actively at Work Drumming Up Crowds for Beveridge's Regular Biennial Plea for Votes.

BI-PARTISAN ALLIANCE BUSY

Revelations Have Effect of Increasing Enthusiasm of Republicans All Over the State.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 23.—The most active agitators of the Bull Moose cause in Indiana at this time are active agents of the Crawford Fairbanks-Tom Taggart Democratic organization. In fact, they are about the only people in Indiana who are manifesting any great interest in the "lost cause," with the exception of Beveridge. The spectacle of Beveridge and the leaders of the Crawford Fairbanks-Tom Taggart outfit working for one and the same thing is having the effect of uniting in a solid phalanx the voters of Indiana who believe in the Republican policy of protection for American homes and American industries.

Two weeks ago Beveridge began his biennial tour of the state, pleading for votes and abusing everyone who is opposed to him as an individual and as a candidate. Immediately word went down the line from the state headquarters of the Fairbanks-Taggart outfit to their agents in the various counties to see to it that the Beveridge meetings were not "frosts." "If there are no Progressives in your community, see to it that Democrats turn out and shout loud and long," was the substance of the order to the Democratic faithful.

This order is being carried out. In one southern Indiana county 2,000 letters were sent out from Democratic headquarters boosting the Beveridge meetings in that county. Three hundred Kentucky Democrats were used to swell the crowd at New Albany, where an afternoon meeting had to be postponed for an hour and a half before there were enough people to start the proceedings. At Rising Sun just fourteen people greeted Beveridge, and it is said that most of them were machine Democrats.

In Indianapolis the Democratic machine organization has been moving heaven and earth for a week trying to drum up a crowd for the Roosevelt meeting. The Democratic "opening" of the state campaign was a decided

To avoid delay, address all questions direct to the UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATIONS, 364 West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to THE DAILY REPUBLICAN if preferred.)

W. D. Huntington writes: "How shall I disinfect a consumptive's room? Suggest you give full directions for one or two methods. Cheap and easy methods performed if efficient. Will books, clothing, bedding, furniture or food be injured by the method or should they be scattered about on chairs etc, to be disinfected? How long a time is required to disinfect? How soon after may the room be occupied?"

"2.—How soon will sun shining on sputum destroy consumption germs in the sputum?"
Reply—There is no simple or easy method. Disinfection must be done thoroughly or it is worthless. Boil the bedclothes thoroughly. Burn quilts; also mattresses, unless they are worth the price of disinfection. They may be disinfected by exposing to the sunlight and air and spraying with formaldehyde. The carpet, if old should be burned; also the curtains. If they are new and worth saving, spread them upon the grass or upon clothes lines and expose them to the sun. Sprinkle them with formaldehyde. Boil the curtains and scrub the carpet with soap, water and brush.

Now for the room. Wash the wood work with strong soapsuds. Scrape the paper off the wall, and repaper. The bedstead and other furniture must be washed with soap and water and the work must be thoroughly done. Gaseous formaldehyde fumigation does not kill tubercule bacilli.

The room may be occupied immediately after cleaning as above detailed.

2.—If the sputum is in lumps and in quantity, no amount of sunshine will destroy the live microbes in the center of a lump. If spread out thin direct sunshine will kill the tubercule in sputum within five hours.

A Woman Fifty Years Old of Peru writes: "I have heard much of Tuberculosis."

culosis but little of catarrh. Is not catarrh the forerunner of lung trouble mostly? Will diet help? Please tell in plain language what to do and what to eat."

Reply—A person who is fifty years old and has chronic catarrh can never be cured. However, relief can be secured. I cannot enter into a discussion of catarrh in these answers because the question is intricate and the answer very long. The wise way to proceed is to consult a good physician. These columns are not so much to give information concerning cure of diseases as to give information concerning prevention. The prevention of catarrh is a big subject and the prevention methods must be started in childhood, and they are—living out of doors a great deal in sunshine and air; avoidance of smoke and dust; avoidance of the so-called children's diseases; namely: measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc. The majority of children who have these diseases, especially if the attack is strong, will be found more or less catarrhal afterwards, just as a blow leaves a bruise in the flesh, so "children's diseases" bruise the child's constitution.

H. writes—"I have a dark muddy complexion with occasional pimples, yet my general health seems good. Is there any road to clear complexion?"
Reply—The fact that you have a muddy complexion and pimples is evidence that your general health is not good. You probably are suffering from auto-intoxication. This means your nutrition is at fault. You are advised to leave off the eating of meat; to chew your food thoroughly; to stop coffee and tea if you use them; and through the rational life bring back good health.

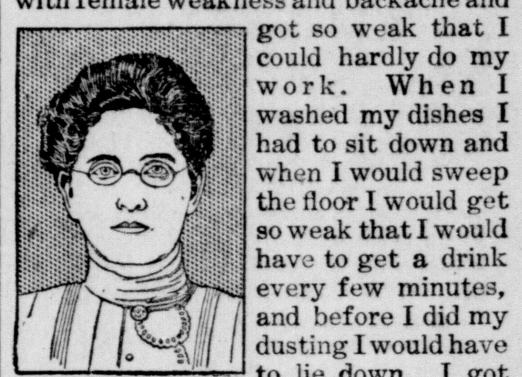

A. E. G. New Waverly writes: "Will you kindly tell me what steps to take to get a patient in the Tuberculosis hospital; where it is located, etc.?"
Reply—Write to Dr. W. A. Geckler, superintendent State Tuberculosis Hospital, Rockville, Ind.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief in Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong." — Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Not Well Enough to Work.
In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages. Whether in house, office, factory, shop, store or kitchen, woman should remember that there is one tried and true remedy for the ills to which all women are prone, and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It promotes that vigor which makes work easy. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring back color, thickness and lustre—Everybody is using it again.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

BUTLER BRAGS ON PROSPECTS

Sport Circles in Irvington Have it
That Their Team is Going to Clean up This Year

HAVE NO GAME WITH WABASH

DePauw With Big Bunch of Veterans

Looks Good—Lid is Pried off
This Afternoon

BY TOAD ELLIS
(Written for United Press.)

Indianapolis, Sept. 26.—The secondary colleges are "in for a cleanin'" at the hands of Butler this year. That, at least, is the opinion of sport circles in classic (?) Irvington. And it is also the opinion of a goodly portion of the college graduates who are aware of Butler's 1914 brag. Statistics of all sorts tend to sustain said brag and Earlham, DePauw, Rose Poly et cetera had better look out if they want to retain their football prestige.

Unfortunately, Butler will not this year meet Wabash, for years the leading exponent of the college game among Indiana's secondary colleges. Both teams are idle today. Couple with this the fact that Butler's manager has tried every inducement to persuade Wabash into a game for today, has met with failure, and you have the basis for Butler's further brag that Wabash is afraid to meet the Irvington crowd.

Should Wabash perform the unexpected and repeat her victories of former years, and should Butler perform the more-or-less expected and outout Earlham, DePauw and Franklin—then there would be a disappointing tie-up that could only be settled with a post-season struggle. But why anticipate trouble? Butler will have to workdickel to beat DePauw, and Wabash may continue the slump of last year.

Over at Bloomington today they have forgotten for the moment the water famine in the exhilaration of opening the football season for all Hoosierdom. Other colleges had games scheduled, but they all fell through. Butler's game with St. Mary's didn't materialize, and Earlham couldn't play Bluffton because the Bluffton faculty disregarded all schedules and barred football from the curriculum. So the honors fell on Indiana and DePauw.

Critics seemed to agree that Indiana would beat DePauw, but they qualified their remarks by referring to DePauw's "new era" of alumni control and remarking that it has seemed to strengthen the Methodist school. Indiana also has a "new Era", however, and the initiation of Childs might be an inspiration. Indiana to win by about three touchdowns, was the dope.

At Richmond, Terre Haute, Franklin, Indianapolis, Hanover and Crawfordsville the coaches today contented themselves with staging bloody battles between two squads—this civil war being in preparation for stern battles next Saturday, to be participated in by all save Hanover and Franklin.

DePauw quickly follows her rather uneven struggle today with another even worse next Wednesday with Michigan at Ann Arbor. If DePauw doesn't come out of these invasions with decimated ranks, she may have developed a battle-wise team of veterans that will toy with her Indiana rivals.

But to return to the loud and long Butler brag. There is a hint hereabouts that many of the most valuable recruits are from the ranks of the Iroquois Athletic Club and other amateur clubs. These hints, which in some cases have actually taken the form of statements, say that Butler has relapsed into the habit of picking football stars wherever obtainable with the understanding that after Thanksgiving they can leave the collegiate entrapment. This may and may not be so. It is true Butler has an imposing array of new material and that Al Feeney, former Notre Dame star now assistant Butler coach has been very useful in rounding up material. Feeney has always been associated with athletics in Indianapolis and he has persuaded some of his former high school cronies to enter school—which step had not occurred to them up the present time.

Cullen Thomas told me today that Wabash was afraid to play Butler. He then outlined the Butler material, taking up first the new men. They follow: Ferree, 185 pounds, lineman, fasted fullback Manual has had in years; Agenew, Manual end, 160 pounds; Wagner, Manual quarter, and a fast one; Stevenson, Shortridge half, Dick Jones, Shortridge full (Iroquois); Brown, Manual center; Amelung, New Albany end, and fast; Budd, Lebanon end; Edwards, 180-pound lineman from Scotland; Hill, 180-pound lineman from Lexington, Ky.; Baker, 175 pound center from Fort Wayne; Griffith, a Kansas heavy weight; Kautz, Kokomo, 160 pound lineman; Harry Smith, 150 pound half.

The veterans of last year are nearly all back. They are: Paul, Daniels, Perkin, Wise, Bonham, all monogram backfield men; Good Huff, McLeod, Kirkoff, Lockhart, Cooley, all linemen. In addition Tucker, the center, of two years ago, is back.

"We will have the heaviest and strongest line in the secondary crowd, and we think we will have the fastest backfield of veterans seen in years. I will gain weeks because my men are all veterans. Last year all were greens," said Thomas.

Thomas said that just as soon as the secondary colleges in the I. C.

A. L. perfected an organization that would force teams to live up to the I. C. A. L. rules, Butler would join the I. C. A. L. He said Butler's credit system had been rearranged to conform with the I. C. A. L. standards, but intimated that I. C. A. L. colleges did not live up to their own rules.

Thomas evidently intends to cop; Feeney intends to cop. The college has employed two coaches to cop; they have a team of heavy, fast veterans that want to cop and expect to cop. But the dope bucket has been spilled before, and anyway the flavor isn't good until it has more seasoning.

CENSORSHIP HELD TO BLAME

Roy W. Howard, President of United Press Association, Says Unbiased Opinion Can't be Formed

BY PEOPLE IN UNITED STATES

London Censorship is at Variance With all British Ideas of Fair Play, he Says

(By United Press.)

New York, Sept. 26.—Until the present British censorship is altered it will be impossible for Americans to form an unbiased opinion or judge fairly from cable reports of the day-by-day developments in the present war" said Roy W. Howard, president of the United Press, who arrived on the Mauretania from Europe. Howard has spent several weeks in England, Germany, France, Belgium, and Holland, working on problems presented to American news agencies by interrupted cables and foreign press censors.

"Eliminating consideration of international questions involved in the war, the fact remains," said Howard, "that the press censorship in London is at variance with all British ideas of fair play—a fact apparently appreciated and deplored by all English men save those few on the censorship desk.

"Every cablegram for America must pass a British or an allied censor. The French censorship is admittedly dominated by the English. No one can question the right of the British to maintain a vigorous censorship but the present organization does not censor news. It simply suppresses it.

"This suppression of any and all German news is now being extended to the mails in London. Having learned that the United Press was sending German news from The Hague to London for re-sending to New York, the British censor now opens every letter before delivering it to our London office. Some of the censored letters are delivered and some are not. Other American agencies have had the same experience with the result that the best German news reaching America aside from the limited wireless despatches) in matter sent by courier via the Holland-American ships.

"In consequence despite the best efforts and the most ingenious schemes of American newspapermen the cable news reaching America is filtered through anti-German channels. It requires no partisan bias to force one to the conclusion that Germany's side of such matters as the reported atrocities in Belgium must be heard, before fair judgment can be reached by neutral Americans.

"Even though one may have doubts of Germany's ability to explain away some of the charges lodged against her armies, nothing more is required than a spirit of fair play to prompt a protest against condemnation under the yench law being practiced by the British censorship which would permit the world to hear only the indictment without a word of defense from Germany.

"Bad as the situation has been and is from the standpoint of neutral and disinterested news gatherers there is nothing to indicate that the attitude of the censorship is supported by the British public. The difficulty has been due primarily to England's unfamiliarity with the handling of a censorship and to unfortunate choice of men for the work. There is every reason to believe that with-holding of favorable public opinion by Americans (the favorable opinion which both sides are so openly courting) until the present condition is remedied, will do more to correct the trouble quickly than any other single thing."

Basketful of Metal Tags All That is Left of Germans Who Fell at Liege

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND
 (U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Liege, September 6 (by courier via Maastricht and Rotterdam to New York)—Here where the tide of German advance for a time dashed on the rock and steel of Belgian forts, I saw something which affected me far more than any of the sorrows of war I have yet encountered. It was a good sized basketful of metal tags under careful guard at military headquarters.

"They are all that is left of 'Unser Braven yunge' (our brave boys) who fell in and around Liege—their identification mark," said the officer.

I asked permission to examine one. It was a small tin tag with two holes for the string or ribbon. A large number was stamped on it and, below, the number of the regiment. The comparison is grotesque and much out of place, but the tag that I held in my hand represented a human life. It was the "remains"—all that was left of that life—of that husband, father or brother. It was the monument and at the same time the metallic tag and number of a human life in the indexed catalogue of an army of human lives. Just a metal tag with a number!

I gazed at it long and earnestly. I wondered if it had registered the emotions, the hopes, the fears, the love, the sorrow, the yearning to fight for home and fatherland, the last thoughts of loved ones—like a phonographic record—of the life that ebbed away through the little hole made by rifle or torn by shell. Nothing I have so far seen in the path of war, not even the stench of bodies in Fort Loncin or burned and shot-riddled houses, so impressed me as that little metal tag. I laid it down reverently. It was—or had been—a life.

This afternoon I saw the "rest" of that tag and many others like it—rather, the place where the "rest" or remainder of that tag was. Between the forts Barchon and Evegnée it was in the trenches where the Belgians received the Germans with a murderous fire when they stormed those two forts—the first that fell—thereby getting an entrance into the city. It was here that these men went down like grass before the scythe. The Germans had come on—nothing could stop them—they seemed to go on to their death gladly as one Belgian remarked to me. The Belgian trenches now are filled and levelled. I could hardly find them, even with a guide. They were filled with the fallen. One grave was about sixty feet long. Another was eighty or ninety. Here is where the metal tags were gathered. Each man and officer wears one around his neck. That of the private is usually a tag with a number corresponding with the number opposite his name on his company and regimental rolls. Many have the number of the regiment on the tag. The tags of the officers usually are of aluminum and besides the number have the name and rank, sometimes also the home address. Some of the privates also have replaced the common tin tag with aluminum one purchased themselves at 30 cents each, upon which is stamped name and address and regiment besides the required number.

After the battle, when the Germans find their dead, the collar on each shirt is opened, the string cut and the tag taken and sent to headquarters for identification. There the books are opened and "fallen" together with the place of fight or battle is written opposite the name and number of the dead soldier.

At Liege probably for the first time in German wars, death obliterated distinction in rank. For the first time so far as I can learn, German officers and common soldiers were buried in the same trench.

It has always been the rule—a sort of unwritten law—that every fallen officer should have a separate grave and not be buried in the common trench. To a larger extent this is still done especially with officers of higher rank than captain. But the unprecedented mobility and rapid advance of the German army into Belgium and France made this extremely difficult. A non-commissioned officer—a volunteer 58 years of age—who commanded a burial squad at Liege told me there was not time to take much pains in burying. The tags are now removed from the fallen, watch, money, etc., taken to be sent to the relatives, the bodies—uniform and all—were wrapped in their blankets and laid in rows, side by side in their trenches.

The fallen of the enemy are not buried in the same trench but are placed together in a separate trench. Even in death there shall be no brotherhood between those who fought and took each other's lives. The uniforms are taken from bodies of the enemy's fallen and laid on the top of the grave as a means of identification to friends. If they wear tags they are removed.

The officer with whom I talked said that the many separate graves of officers he had been shown after 1870 proved troublesome to land owners. It has been decided therefore wherever thought best, to bury officers with their men.

One of the features of the German side of the battlefield in this war, is the thorough manner in which the Germans "clean up" the field after a battle. It is not only the natural sense of "orderliness" which is so characteristic of the German character but there is method and purpose. That is, the battlefield shall reveal no tales.

It shall give nothing from which a conclusion can be drawn as to losses or any other information. Everything is removed as if a rag-picker had gone over the field. There is little trace of graves from the size of which conclusion might be drawn as to the number buried. The future belongs to the living, not the dead, seems to be the motto.

On the German side of battlefields I have visited and from the many I have talked with who have been over other battlefields in Belgium and France, I have always heard the same observation, "however fast the Germans advance, they have a 'clean up' squad." In sharp contrast to this are the sections of the battlefield over which the French fought. They are simply littered with guns, knapsacks, blankets, etc. Everyone of these things is a sign readable by the trained officers.

At the last analysis it is the "metal tag" with a number—the symbol of a human life—of a soul sent out in this carnage. It represents the "ashes" of the battlefield. It is the reverse side of the glory medal of war.

Nothing I have seen so far in this war—the wretchedness of the prisoners—the misery in the path of the war, the suffering of wounded, the stench arising from fort Loncin, the men maimed for life, has so impressed me, as this little metal tag.

Postoffice Department Starts Crusade Against Side and Rear Entrance For Mail Delivery.

MAIL RECEPTACLES URGED

Department Says it Takes Too Much of Carriers' Time to Walk Around the House.

A crusade against the side and rear doors sounds just a little bit like a reform movement in Rushville in the days before the "great drought."

But that is just what the postoffice department is making, as is evidenced by a circular letter from the first assistant postmaster-general which recently reached Postmaster G. P. Hunt. The first paragraph of the circular is as follows:

"It has come to the knowledge of the department that in many cities the street time of carriers is materially increased by delivering mail at the rear or side doors of residences and business places. If this is the practice at your office you should notify the patrons affected that after sixty days they must provide means for receipt of their mail at the front doors. Suggest that this means may be in the form of a slot in the door or an ordinary house box."

It is further urged that the delivery of mail within the city delivery district can be expedited and the convenience of householders conserved if arrangements are made by the cutting of slot in the front door or the installation of a mail box near the front door. The circular is construed to mean that such delivery of mail must be discontinued after November 15.

Private receptacles for mail are a great convenience to the householder, as well as serving to expedite the walk of the postman, obviating the necessity of responding to the carrier's call at inconvenient moments and permitting the safe delivery of mail in the absence of members of the household. They also prevent the occasional necessity of a carrier's proceeding on his route without delivering mail because of failure to answer his ring within a reasonable time, and enable him to make deliveries to patrons living on or near the end of the route at an earlier hour.

It has been shown by actual experience that the benefits derived by patrons of city delivery from the use of such receptacles far outweigh the small expense involved. As the Rushville office is interested in furnishing the best possible service at the least expense, the compliance of those interested with the foregoing suggestions will be much appreciated.

Neither the postmaster nor any of his subordinates is authorized or permitted to act as agent for boxes.

Lewisville Character Promises to Give Bond and Then Leaves.

Blaine Reynolds, the Lewisville character, who gave himself up to the Henry county sheriff following a fight with Robert Peele, has skipped for parts unknown. Reynolds went to the sheriff's office and was given a blank bond to get filled out and was released on his own recognizance to get it signed. He has not been seen since but is thought to have started in the direction of Richmond. Robert Peele, the other party to the fight gave bond in the sum of $75 and was released. Both are charged with assault and battery.

GOSHEN BOY WINS FIRST IN CONTEST

Noble Williams First in Livestock and Grain Judging Event at the State Fair.

RESULTS JUST ANNOUNCED

Announcement has been made of the winners of the boys livestock and grain judging contest that was held during the state fair at Indianapolis. A possible total of 800 points was the highest than anyone could score during the contest.

The results of the contest are as follows: first, Noble Williams, Goshen, 692 points; second, Vergil Schwartzkopf, Montpelier, 638 points; third, Posey L. Kime, Petersburg, 636 points; fourth, Raymond Mulvey, Montmorenci, 634 points. The prize winners will receive $100, $75, $50, and $25, respectively, towards a course in the school of Agriculture of Purdue university.

R. R. Jamison, won the trophy cup offered by the American Holstein-Friesian association for the best score in judging dairy cattle at the state fair.

A large number of boys entered the contest this year and all the scores were very close. All the winners of the contest have either graduated from high school in 1913 or 1914, showing that everyone had the same advantage in the contest.

WOMAN ARRESTED

Mrs. Jennie Leavell of Knightstown has been arrested on an assault and battery charge as a result of a stabbing affray on the carnival grounds there last spring when a young woman named Shaffer was cut. Following the cutting Mrs. Leavell left Knightstown and only recently returned.

Ben J. Richey and family have moved from Milroy to Dry Ridge, Ky., where she has purchased a farm.

Edith B. Smith has filed suit on a note and to foreclose a mortgage against Leila A. Meyer, demanding $50.

CARE OF PROPERTY

This Company offers its service to those who for various reasons—ill health, absence from home, press of business, etc.—desire to be relieved of the care of property. It is equipped to serve them carefully and economically. It collects coupons, interest, bonds, notes, rents and any other class of income, remitting the same as may be desired. It invests money for those who, through inexperience, feel the need of greater efficiency in the management of their affairs.

HE RENOUNCES PROGRESSIVES

Chas. S. Bash, One of the Most Active Figures in Northern Indiana Politics, Returns to G. O. P.

DELIVERS FIRST SPEECH

Man Who Was Offered Progressive Nomination For Congress in 1912 Decides Cause Dead Issue.

Ft. Wayne, Ind., Sept. 26.—Charles S. Bash, president of S. Bash & Co., one of the largest grain firms in Indiana, and one of the most influential men in Ft. Wayne, has renounced the Progressive party in which he has been one of the most active figures in northern Indiana and returned to the Republican party.

Mr. Bash was one of the first to ally himself with Roosevelt's party in 1912 and was offered the Progressive nomination for Congress in the Twelfth District two years ago. Because of pressure of business he declined the nomination but entered heart and soul into the Progressive movement, in which he continued active until a few weeks ago. As late as August 6 this year he continued to be active for the Progressives, having presided on that date at the meeting held by Albert J. Beveridge in this city. At that meeting he delivered a speech in which he defended the Progressive party and its principles.

For several weeks, however, Mr. Bash has been considering a change and at last has decided to support the Republican cause, being convinced that the objects of the Progressive party have been accomplished and that the movement is now a dead issue. Mr. Bash, it is said, realizes that if the Progressive movement is continued it will serve only as an aid to the Democratic party, and will serve only to make business conditions worse.

In line with his decision to return to the Republican party Mr. Bash delivered his first Republican speech Monday night at Aboite Center.

ELL JONES HANDS IN RESIGNATION

Because of Ill Health, Street Commissioner Gives up Position—Will Havens is Named.

EFFECTIVE OCTOBER FIRST

Will Havens was today appointed street commissioner by Mayor Bebout to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Ell Jones. The change is effective on October 1. Mr. Jones has been in ill health for some time and it was because of this that he resigned. Mr. Jones found it impossible to attend to his duties in his present condition and rather than hold on and perhaps become worse he decided to resign.

Mr. Jones has been a very competent street commissioner and has been a tireless worker for the city's interests. Mr. Havens, who received the appointment, is not unknown in this position as he was street commissioner during the Cowing administration and the appointment met with approval.

CLUB PRECEDENTS WILL BE BROKEN

Army and Navy Entertains in Honor of General Wood in Celebrating Anniversary

OUTSIDE GUESTS INVITED

New York, Sept. 26.—In honor of General Leonard Wood, New York Army and Navy club celebrates its twenty-fifth anniversary tonight with a reception at which several club precedents will be broken.

The reception will be the first at which all members will appear in uniform. It will also be the first reception to which presidents and governors of non-military clubs have been invited. About sixty officers of other clubs have been invited. The Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy are expected to attend.

The reason for inviting outside clubmen, it was announced, was to allow the army and navy officers to become better acquainted with New York clubmen.

PRISON SUNDAY TO BE OBSERVED HERE

Ministers Will Act on Request of State Board of Charities For Special Sermon, Oct. 25.

ORIGIN OF THE SPECIAL DAY

Rushville churches will observe "Prison Sunday," the last Sunday in October, according to plans of the State Board of Charities. The State Board of Charities asks that pastors all over the state devote a sermon to the subject of prison reform on that day.

Prison Sunday originated at a meeting of 170 clergymen in New York some thirty years ago. They met to discuss how best to interest the people in right methods of dealing with crime and criminals. They passed a resolution urging ministers everywhere to observe Prison Sunday and action was later endorsed by the national conference of charities and correction and the American Prison Association. The movement has been national in its scope.

MRS. GUERNSEY IS OUT FOR OFFICE

Announces Her Candidacy for President General of Daughters of American Revolution.

PLANS RADICAL REFORMS

(By United Press.)

Independence, Kan., Sept. 26.—Radical and far-reaching reforms form the platform of Mrs. George Thacker Guernsey of Independence, who today announced her candidacy for president general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Guernsey would have but one term of three years for all national officers, precluding the friction which in the last has attended candidacies for second terms. She also proposed two changes bearing on financial conditions of the society. She would eliminate mileage for all officers and committee chairman and would have only four regular board meetings a year. She would restore the society magazine to publication by a responsible firm, effecting further economy.

Mrs. Guernsey is the wife of a successful banker and comes from a family noted for its activity in Kansas pioneer days.

Several beautiful premiums go into Rush County homes every day. Are you receiving your share of them? If you are not saving S. & H. stamps begin now.

is a sort of spiritual tobacco. Some folks have it and then again some don't. Some unwork it and add flavor to beautiful wearables that might otherwise appear to be commonplace.

Enthusiasm and Publicity are assets to every prospective purchaser. That's the reason we prefer stamping the fact of our exceptional autumn preparedness upon your minds, to keeping it a secret.

Still we deny our enthusiasm the privilege of running rampant. It is not our purpose to inveigle you into viewing merchandise that does not more than back up our printed talks with you.

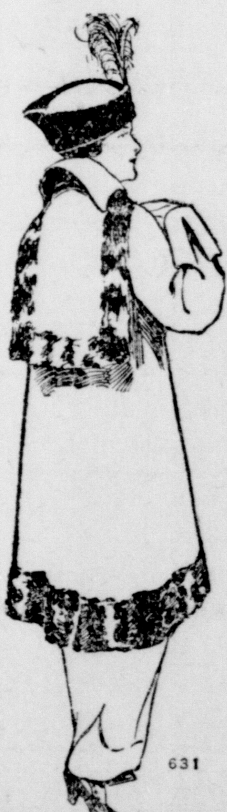

Does not the size of a display—the larger assortment of styles, colors, fabrics and size—mean something to you? We think it does. That premise has led us to bring to your doors a more lavish display than ever before of ladies' and misses' COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, SKIRTS AND WAISTS

We hope that our Opening Days were an education to you in all that is fashionably correct for autumn wear, and we now desire the opportunity of showing you personally and more thoroughly all the garments (not since sold) that were displayed in these days. It will be a pleasure to you to have an almost unrestricted choice, because the showing is so large.

Will you come? Soon?

There are a few children's coats, good snug winter coats, of last season's styles that are priced now at $1.98 and $2.98. They are splendid for school wear, and are cheaper than sweaters.

The new Marchioness Coat, the beautiful Redingote Suit, the many charming varieties of Cape-coat Suits, all lend a fascination to this season of the year that will interest every woman who takes an interest in her personal appearance.
